

The Equal's Diary

GORMALAK : ON THE BRINK OF APOCALYPSE

A wave of attacks is devastating the Free City of Gormalak. Early last morning, citizens all over the metropolis could feel a series of noisy temblors. The earthquakes tore down several areas of the city and, what is even more disturbing, some of the distributions have changed. Whole buildings, walls, and unexpected obelisks have merged from the underground, as if the city would have developed a self-will.

Unfortunately, the dead and injured people number several thousands, hence many of us ask ourselves if this is the end of Gormalak.

Tales about creatures of Chaos, Undeads and otherworldly beings have spread like wildfire invading every corner. Meanwhile, the Three Thrones Government security alert has raised to the highest level. Given the circumstances, the call for mercenaries from everywhere is mandatory for the protection of Gormalak, giving them some of the riches of our city as a reward.

I can hear from my attic the bells' peals and drums' beats while I'm writing these lines. Dark times lie ahead of us and so the duty to report is now more crucial than ever. We pray to our destinies and beliefs for Gormalak, we pray for strength to resist this attack... a true apocalypse.

ORPHANAGE'S HEROES

This night, which has been called the Cataclysm, will make history as one of the darkest nights in our city-state.

Gormalak seems to be on the brink of collapsing, but even in the most fateful times we may find hope. Many adventurers haven't hesitate to help the victims everywhere in the city. A notable case is the defense of Sweet Water's Orphanage against the hordes of orcs emerging from the underground. Amongst our brave adventurers was Diego Petrovich himself, the greatest swordsman of Gormalak, who has sworn to defend every citizen. This is a reason to breathe a little bit easier. His bravery and dedication should serve as an example to all of us.

REFUGES

In the light of these events, the Three Thrones Government is providing the citizens with refuges. Numerous heralds are giving right now information about the places already selected for the protection of further attacks. All citizens will run to any of these refuges as soon as they hear the alarm sound.

It is highly recommended to all of us to remember the closest refuge from our houses.

GOVERNMENT CALLS FOR CALM

Many citizens have already began to gather the essentials for surviving. The price of the cereal is increasing, leading to protests and outbreaks of violence in some parts of the city. Nevertheless, the Government calls for calm and is imposing severe repressive measures against anyone who ignores the law. This very afternoon, multiple executions will be taking place at several public squares. That's the government's way of showing us the terrible consequences for all those miserable people who wish to see this city falling apart.

